

Getting to Outcomes: Affecting Real Change with Youth in Your Community

The Violence and Injury Prevention Program invites you to attend this straightforward, ten-step planning, implementation and evaluation training. This training which is grounded in Developmental Asset™ research and proven prevention strategies, will help youth program and initiative leaders understand how to get real results. This practical, how-to training is offered in two parts:

Day one:

- Understand the basic Getting To Outcomes with Developmental Assets ten-step process
- Hear about the latest research on what works in asset building and prevention
- Learn about critical asset-based measures in education, prevention, health and other fields
- Get tips for using Assets-GTO in practical, cost-conscious, and effective ways
- Think ahead to what's next on your evaluation plans

Day two:

- Pre-consult with the trainer to prepare participants to work on actual plans
- Field strategies on how to get results in grant writing, program improvements and prevention efforts
- Design time on a set of asset-based measures specific to your work
- Development of your tailored evaluation plans
- One hour follow-up consultation with trainer
